Public School Board Seeks Way To Avoid Overcrowding Rooms At King George School

Miss Evelyn Denne was transferred from the Alexander Muir school to teach grade seven at Stuart Scott school, at a public school board meeting in the town council chamber on Friday evening. Rev. J. A. Koffend presided.

Principal H. A. Jackson reported that religious instruction, begun in the schools last year, had been "well received by the teachers," and asked that it be continued this year. The board authorized Mr. Koffend to make the necessary arrangements with the Newmarket Ministerial Association.

Mr. Jackson reported that school attendance would be heavy and that the King George school was likely to be overcrowded. "In two rooms at the King George school there will be 48 pupils each," he said. "That is impossible. There are not enough desks for them."

The crowded rooms would be Miss Hamblin's (grades four and five) and Miss Sprague's (five and six).

"We put 15 classes into 14 classrooms, that is, we have one teacher less since Mr. Scott went," explained Mr. Jackson.

"Would a permanent teacher instead of supply teachers be the solution?" asked Mr. Koffend.

"No, for one supply teacher relieves me to visit the other schools," said Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson said that there was also the question whether Mr. Hall should take manual training for two days a week or for one day and he, Mr. Jackson, take manual training the other day.

Mr. Jackson thought it would cause too much interruption of Mr. Hall's work if he had a supply teacher for more than one day a week.

Trustee Frank Bothwell said that "times are not normal," and asked whether it would be best to drop manual training for grades five and six for a year.

"When they reached grade seven, they would be at a loss," said Mr. Jackson. He also said: "We have boys in grades five and six who are getting more out of manual training than out of anything else."

"That is a point," agreed Dr. G. E. Case.

Mr. Koffend said that the decision as to who should teach manual training would be left with Mr. Jackson.

Dr. Case asked whether, in view of the extra burden on Mr. Jackson, if he should teach manual training, the burden could be lifted by providing clerical help or otherwise.

Mr. Koffend, after consultation with Mr. Pritchard, said that there was no money available to provide any such help.

Mr. Jackson said that there would be space in one room to put in extra desks to accommodate 48 pupils, but that there was not floor space in the other room.

"I could work it out if I had another teacher," Mr. Jackson said.

"That is financially out of the question," said Mr. Koffend.

"Can't we borrow?" asked Dr. Case. "What would we do if during the summer 100 extra families moved into the town?" "We would go to the town council," someone commented. "Country schools can borrow, but we can't," Secretary R. L. Pritchard said.

"It doesn't seem right that a room should be crowded beyond efficiency," said Trustee L. H. Bovair.

Mr. Jackson said that it would be possible to exclude grades four, five and six pupils from the town council chamber on Friday evening.

Visioning A Greater Town

(Midland-Penelanguishene Free Press Herald)

Most important speech made in Midland in many years was that of Howard Johnson, retiring general manager of the Midland Shipyards, at a farewell dinner given in his honor as he leaves to accept a position of high responsibility in a British shipyard.

It was important because it challenged the people of Midland to a new vision of the magic possibilities that lie before their town if only they have the vision, the initiative, the courage and the energy to carry them into effect.

Mr. Johnson told of his dreams for a greater Midland. He pictured a development that would make this community the greatest tourist centre in Ontario, one which would draw people from all parts of the continent. He spoke of boulevards, an art gallery and museum, a national open air theatre, high-grade hotels on the beaches, a sports stadium and other attractions which would give the tourists something to do when they get here.

At present we offer them lovely scenery, beaches, fresh air and fishing. Their interest in those things is soon exhausted. How can we hold them for weeks and months unless we provide them with other pleasures and opportunities for culture?

To some who heard him Mr. Johnson must have sounded like a wild visionary. They have never thought of their town as anything out of the ordinary in its setting and possibilities. His talk to them was just so much "hot air."

Of course the things which Mr. Johnson suggested, and many other ideas which time did not permit him to uncover, cannot be accomplished in war-time. Nor can they all happen at once when peace comes. It was a program of development that he outlined, something which would take many years to accomplish. Nor need it be adopted in its entirety, but it is certainly worth study.

At present there is no plan. Midland is just muddling along. Year after year problems are met only as they arise. No thought is being taken for the morrow. There are too many citizens anchored to the past. There are not enough whose eyes are on the future.

Midland needs more Howard Johnsons—men who have the capacity to dream dreams and bring them to pass.

We in Midland are so close to them that we do not realize the marvel of his accomplishments. Starting from behind scratch and loaded down with tremendous handicaps he has in 30 months built one of the most efficient yards on the Great Lakes and trained a staff of 600 men to build the most intricate kind of naval vessels. No fewer than ten warships are in the water, most of them giving splendid service against Hun submarines, and more are on the stocks. A remarkable achievement that!

Who was it built the town of Midland, the visionaries or the men with anchored minds? Who saw the early possibilities of Midland as a great saw-mill town? Visionaries like H. H. Cook, Andrew Miscampbell, James Playfair, D. L. White and the Cheves.

Who saw Midland as a great grain port and made it into the biggest thing of its kind in eastern Canada? Men of vision.

Who saw Midland as the home town of fleets of ships? Visionaries like James Playfair, D. L. White, D. S. Pratt, Fred Grant and the Burkes.

Who was it made Midland into a great coal port? Men of vision.

Who was it built the tourist business which is now growing so rapidly that it is almost impossible to keep step with it?

Visionaries like Mr. and Mrs. Newton Wagg, George Ross, Victor Edwards, Herman Thompson, Tom McCullough, W. D. Ross, Tom Duncan, Dr. Garnet Tanner, Oliver Smith, the Grises and the Nickersons.

Who was it developed Little Lake park from an ordinary piece of bushland into one of the most popular public playgrounds in Canada? Dreamers like Tom Duncan and Herman McGill.

Who built Midland's main street into one of the most attractive thoroughfares of any small town in Ontario?

The dreamers and the visionaries. Merchants who looked to the future, J. B. Horrell, F. W. Jeffery, W. E. Preston, the Hartmans and others. The men who have kept the chamber of commerce alive through the years when the croakers and the hammer-wielders would have slain it.

And one could go on and on naming the forward-looking men who have given Midland its hospital, its Y.M.C.A., its churches, and everything else that has made for the betterment of the community. Men like William Finlayson, Senator Bennett, the Hanleys, the Letherbys, the Rubys, the Dobsons, the Laurendeaus, the Dollars and the Dudleys, and a score of others all played a big part in making the town what it is.

There is nothing that cannot be accomplished by men of vision.

One suggestion made by Mr. Johnson should be carried into effect at once; appointment of a group of enthusiastic and disinterested citizens who will give time and study to plans for the future growth and development of Midland. There is no use placing men on such a committee who are easily discouraged. Men with anchored minds will always stand ready to throw cold water on any schemes for beautifying or improving the town in any way. To them a dollar in taxes is more important than anything else in the world. They will always croak and knock.

No one, not even Mr. Johnson himself, has any idea what his future holds, but all Midlanders who have come to know him for his true worth, will hope that he will come back after the war, and help other men of vision in the community bring to pass some of his and their dreams for a greater Midland.

TRAIN RUNS ON SIDING FROM STANDING START

A two-engined C.N.R. passenger train, which had stopped at Newmarket station, started south on Tuesday morning.

The switch had been left open on the Office Specialty siding by a railway section man, and the train started to go on the siding. Apparently the engineer saw the switch was open before he reached it, and he was able to slow the train down in time to avoid a wreck.

When the train, which was carrying troops, stopped the last car was at the Queen St. bridge. The two engines, and tenders, and two baggage cars went on the siding. There were two freight cars standing on the siding, which comes to a dead end against the Water St. embankment.

The train struck a hand-car standing on the siding but did no other damage.

BUFFALO MAN GIVES VALUABLE INSTRUMENT

All boys wanting to join the Newmarket Citizens' junior band are asked to be at the band hall (municipal clerk's office building) Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Ten additional boys are wanted who will appreciate free tuition and whose parents will be responsible for good care of the instruments." J. O. Little stated on behalf of the band.

Andrew Murdison, Buffalo, father of Andrew Murdison, Newmarket, has generously given to Mr. Little for the town of Newmarket his valuable trombone.

CREDITS V.O.N. WITH HEALTH EDUCATION

(Barrie Examiner)

During the last few years, or since this war started in 1939, we have become more conscious of the value of good health, for only those with sound bodies and minds can make the greatest contribution to the war effort. The number of rejections among those called up for military service clearly shows that we have lagged woefully in health education. Many large industrial firms have come to realize the economic value of paying special attention to the health of their employees. Medical research and science have made wonderful strides during the past score of years in combating diseases, particularly communicable diseases, but we have been tardy in recognizing this contribution to human welfare.

Perhaps there is no organization doing more today to bring home to the masses the meaning and value of health than the Victorian Order of Nurses. Those specially trained nurses in a hundred centres across Canada bring hope and a better way of living to thousands of families every week, for health education is stressed in the work of the V.O.N. It should be the right of every child to have proper care, even before birth as well as after, and prenatal attention is vital in the health of every child. The Victorian Order of Nurses in their daily rounds and health education talks impart much needed advice in this regard. The value of a branch of the V.O.N. to a community is far-reaching, and the work is deserving of the fullest support.

Newmarket Sailor Helps Land Troops For Sicily Invasion

Aubrey Scythes Writes From Algiers Of Canadian Share In Allied Landing In Sicily

Sub-Lieut. A. G. Scythes, R.C.N.V.R., had a part in the Sicily landing operations, he writes in a letter "to all my friends back home" care of The Era and Express. His letter from Algiers is dated Aug. 11 and reached Newmarket a week ago.

"Once more I feel it is my duty to send my grateful thanks to all of you for your gifts and good wishes that I have received from time to time," writes Sub-Lieut. Scythes.

"Although I am far from all of you I still keep in touch with the news of home, both in letters from my wife and family and through the medium of the Newmarket Era and Express, a copy of which I have just finished reading.

"May I at this time offer my congratulations on the fine job you are doing back home. It is indeed a comfort, and I do not speak for myself alone, to know that the people back home have not forgotten us, but are backing us up all the way.

"Today finds me in Algiers, that modern city in north Africa, so often referred to in news-reels, etc. I arrived here after Sicily. My ship came through without a scratch, myself included.

"I would have liked to have written sooner but did not think it wise until the official announcements had been made. It is now general knowledge that the Canadians are fighting there, so I guess it will do no harm to say that I am very proud of the fact that I helped in a small way to land them on the shores of Sicily.

"I should also like the people back home to know that they can well be proud of the Canadian soldiers. They will never, repeat never, let you down. They have proved it in Sicily. "A page in Canadian history was truly born that day and many more pages are being born every day since.

"I should like to go into more detail, but this is not quite the time to do so. I shall wait until I see you all once again. In the meantime keep up the good work and keep smiling."

MOVIES AND HISTORY

You go to a movie like "Young Mr. Pitt" and say three cheers for the moving picture industry. When you hear a soldier sigh with boredom, you realize that everybody isn't interested in the public affairs of a century and a half ago, and that it takes all kinds of pictures to entertain the world.

You think what wonderful use could be made of the movies in teaching history. When you get home you dust off a couple of history volumes and start reading about William Pitt and his times. You soon become conscious that the movie has taken a number of liberties with history to make a story, and you wonder if it would not be better if the movies would stick to fiction and leave history alone.

Confessing that we have had time only to do a little skimming, we note some seeming inaccuracies in the picture.

In April, 1778, when Chatham made his "death-bed" plea in the house of lords for conciliation of the American colonies, his second son, William, was not a boy of 12 or 14 years but only one month short of 19, two years short of being a member of parliament and chancellor of the exchequer and five years short of being prime minister.

Pitt was no reformer, as one might assume from his "peace and reform" platform in 1784 and his close association in the movie with William Wilberforce. It is, of course, not incumbent upon the movie to relate that Pitt did nothing for reform beyond introducing a bill which he gladly saw defeated, that he later voted against reform, and that as an opponent of reform he became the founder of the Tory party. He was sympathetic with the abolition of slavery but he never risked the life of his ministry on this reform, and it was left for Charles Fox, whom the picture represents as for the most part a fool and opportunist, to put through Wilberforce's anti-slavery measure after the death of Pitt.

The appearance of Edward Gibbon, the historian, lends color (and the color throughout seems excellent) to the picture. Gibbon is presented to the king at a social event, subsequent to Pitt's elevation to office in 1783. That could be but it is interesting to find that Gibbon lost a civil service post as a result of Pitt's accession to office, and that he thereupon went to France and remained there until driven home by the French revolution.

Pitt is pictured as the wise man who prepared Britain for war by rebuilding the navy. Pitt's policy was peace and we read that he not only hated war but "so obstinately did he believe in the possibility of maintaining peace that he had actually reduced the military and naval estimates as late as 1792; the number of men in the navy had been cut down from 34,000 to 16,000."

When the war began in 1793, the British army numbered only 17,000 men. The navy had been neglected and the men were badly and sometimes cruelly treated. Before the Napoleonic wars were over the navy mutinied and secured better treatment.

Pitt was no Chatham, no Churchill, no Marlborough. He didn't use army, navy or diplomacy well, an historian declares. He had been a good financier in time of peace, but when war came he borrowed instead of taxing and before the war was over Britain was paying as much debt interest annually as would have paid for the war if collected in taxes from the beginning.

History says that Pitt was not a good judge of men. The movie credits him with the selection of Nelson against the judgment of his cabinet colleagues.

The movie says that Pitt went out of power because of his determination to carry on the war against Napoleon in spite of the public desire to make peace. History says that Pitt resigned early in 1801 because the king disapproved of the Catholic emancipation which Pitt had promised to Ireland in return for assent to the Act of Union.

Pitt resigned to save his own honor and promised that he would not raise the question of Catholic emancipation again in the king's lifetime. Our historian comments, "This is the deepest of blots on Pitt's reputation."

He did not go out in a blaze of glory, and he was not brought back to office, as the picture suggests, to renew the war against Napoleon. Addington, Pitt's successor, carried out Pitt's own policy in arranging peace with Napoleon (Peace of Amiens 1801-02), and Addington declared war again in March, 1803. It was a year later, in 1804, that Britain called Pitt back to office to carry on the war.

(In time the movies will tell us that Churchill, not Chamberlain, took Britain into this war.)

The movie shows Charles Fox, the Whig leader, offering to serve under Pitt if he will resume office, but it doesn't bother to tell us that King George would have none of Fox, and that as a result the ablest Tories too refused to serve in Pitt's ministry.

Britain resumed the war because of Napoleon's aggressions in Italy, Switzerland and Holland, because Britain could not allow France to exclude British trade from the continent, and because of the fear of eventual invasion of Britain. France said that Britain was in the wrong because she had not evacuated Malta in accordance with the Peace of Amiens, but Britain was cautiously waiting to see if Napoleon was going to carry out his part of the treaty.

Then we move on to Trafalgar (October, 1805) and the death of Pitt (January, 1806). "Trafalgar was a great victory because it ended the danger of invasion of Britain, but it followed by only a few days a great victory for Napoleon against the Austrians at Ulm, and preceded by only a few weeks his great victory against the Russians and the Austrians at Austerlitz."

The movie has Pitt die in a "victory won, battle over" atmosphere, but, while Trafalgar was indeed a great and important victory, our historian tells us that Pitt died "in January, 1806, at a moment when the prospects of the war showed nothing but unrelieved gloom."

When our schools use the movies to tell the story of the Napoleonic wars, they will have to tell of war both on land and at sea and carry through to the conclusion at Waterloo in 1815.

IT'S EVERYBODY'S PROBLEM

There are two viewpoints about the cause of this war. The one holds that the German people are inherently war-like and that they were enabled to make this war because the Treaty of Versailles was not harsh enough, because the last war was not carried home to them, and because they were not made to realize that they were defeated.

The other viewpoint is that the German people are much like other people, that they are a vigorous and virile race, just like their cousins, the Anglo-Saxons, and their other cousins, the Franks and the Normans, and that they have a desire to enjoy a "place in the sun" as do the Dutch, the French, the British, the Italians, the Spanish and the Portuguese.

According to this viewpoint, the Treaty of Versailles lacked wisdom in taking from the Germans even those colonies which they had. According to this viewpoint, the Treaty of Versailles was too harsh, imposed impossible reparations payments on Germany and was based on the unsound idea that the winners could derive some benefit from a war. It was soon apparent that Germany could make only a small part of the payments demanded, and the winners had to gradually scale down and write off their claims. Nevertheless, following the Great War, Germans had 15 years of poverty, unemployment and economic distress. It fell to a great extent on a new generation who had no responsibility for the Great War but who, when Hitler appeared on the horizon, felt that anything would be better than what they had and welcomed him as a savior and liberator.

According to this second viewpoint, wise peacemakers, in 1919, would have tried to plan a prosperous Germany and a prosperous world. Wise peacemakers would not have handed colonies to the victors or have claimed reparations or have done anything to convey the idea that war pays either the winners or the losers. Wise peacemakers would have tried to devise a just peace and then set up an international police force, supported financially by all nations, to enforce it. Wise peacemakers would have disarmed both victors and vanquished.

These are the two viewpoints. The first is simpler and more easily stated, and at the moment it is more popular. The latter viewpoint, however, has been widely expressed from shortly after the Great War (it was stated by H. G. Wells in 1920) by students of world affairs. Strangely, the rise of Hitler and this Hitler-made war is the result that members of both schools of thought would expect from the sort of peace that was Versailles.

Men like Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin seem to share the first viewpoint. It is their announced intention to punish Germans and make Germany impotent for centuries to come. It is apparently their intention that after this war the strongest of the United Nations shall remain armed and shall police the world. They have not yet worked out how these strong nations are to be protected against fear of each other, and we think that they, or their successors, will find the solution in disarmament of themselves and the building of an international force to support some form of world government.

Men like Churchill and Roosevelt are leaders, responsive to public opinion, and, we think, they will change their ideas about the shape of things to come as the public changes its ideas, and the public's ideas will change fast once peace comes. Who would have thought, at the time of Lloyd George's "Hang the Kaiser" election, that in a few years' time the British public would be demanding that the French treat the Germans more leniently, that the pacifist, Ramsay MacDonald, would be prime minister of Britain, that Toronto war veterans would be entertaining German war veterans, that the people of the Allied nations would regard Kaiser Wilhelm at Doorn with kindly interest?

Even now a group of 65 Englishmen, including members of parliament, are asking the British Trades Union Congress to reject so-called Vansittartism, the doctrine that the German people must be made to pay and suffer for this war.

Well, there are the two viewpoints. Both are concerned with preventing other wars. Time will bring the solution.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

COUNTY UNIT CONFERENCE

(Brampton Conservator)
In accordance with their platform policy of making the lot of agriculture a happier one, the Drew government has taken the first step to create a new system of county units. The plan is to establish more efficient methods of farming and marketing. A conference has been called under the able leadership of the Hon. T. L. Kennedy to be held on Sept. 2 and 3. More than 250 farm delegates will attend, representing every phase of informed opinion in agriculture.

This conference will be one of the most important of its kind in the history of Ontario. Under the government's blessing the county unit system will be set up. A committee which will be non-political in every way will be formed in each county of the province and will serve as the link between all organizations and the government. It is provided also that they will be independent in action. The financial support will come from the government in order to put the plan in operation.

The function of the county committee or unit will be to bring into being better ways of farming, do away with a lot of the waste and for the farmer to enable him to get a better price for his produce. The government will in no way be represented or sit on any of the committees. Certain powers will be granted to each committee.

All phases of farm opinion will be represented at this conference and will be addressed by Premier George A. Drew. No effort will be spared to make every rural unit strong and prosperous.

Of People And Things

LOCOMOTION

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Do you think that the speed with which we work and travel has any effect on the speed with which we think and make decisions?

One thinks one can imagine that when elephants, donkeys, camels and oxen supplied the locomotive power, people cultivated a contemplative attitude.

If one had to travel quite a distance on a slow-moving steed, one would naturally need something to keep him from falling asleep and yet, what would be the use of thinking at high speed; for one thing the thinker might run out of thoughts; for another, if he thought out something in a hurry and still had a long distance to go, he'd probably forget all the results of his hard-thinking by the time he reached his destination and have it all to do over again, providing he remembered what it was about.

Travelling this way, he'd have time to note every change in the landscape—if his neighbor had a new donkey, he'd see it; if he'd tilled another bit of ground, he'd know just what it would yield, for his slow progress over the same road, many times repeated, had shown him what grew best, where.

If he walked behind a plow he'd know every inch of the soil; the birds around him would be his friends, unafraid of his slow moving progress; their songs would cheer him and they'd follow his shallow furrows, finding food, secure in his presence.

All around him would be the quiet countryside; no swift moving, purring or growling monster would rush by. No huge, menacing sky-birds would sail over head, and he, if he were a thinker, would ponder on the problems of his day and the Creator of the world he lived in.

In the desert, the Arab on his camel or swift, beautiful horse, with the stars to guide him and only the desert sand beneath, had to be on the alert against rivals who would steal his camels, his horses or his family and fade away into the night as if they were a part of it.

Where horses were used, men seemed less contemplative—more active.

In Egypt, in Rome, in Macedonia, in Assyria, men turned to war and conquest; they were restless, never contented with what they had, and they lost the art of contemplation so that if people desired to study, whether market square in Brockville, and wonder at the patience of the seller as people handled things better left untouched, or tasted this or that.

So when I heard that the Pleasantville Girls' Homemakers' club was about to become a market-day concert, my sympathies went all out to them on their first day.

I wonder how many people realize just what these girls are doing, and learning. Their work from start to finish has not only been theory but practice. They learn the hard way.

Most of us like to try new recipes, but if we have failures, they can be buried in darkest secrecy. But the girls had to test out their recipes when together and be applauded or derided as it chanced. They learned to cut and sew their own dresses; they cut and stitched their own gloves—and they were beautiful gloves too. They can set a table beautifully and adorn their homes within and without.

And now—Victory gardens. I've seen one or two, and they are a joy to behold. I have also been regaled with some of the fruits thereof and can vouch for their excellence.

And the last thing, as I said before, is to become marketers. Knowing my own feelings about marketing, I waited anxiously to hear what might be the sequel. Was there discouragement? Was there a resolve not to go again? There was NOT. On the contrary things had gone well; people had been interested, sales had been good; they had learned what material was wanted in quantity, what was not so eagerly sought.

They had had fun and experience, and what was a great deal to the point—they had made money, and so enriched their fund.

As they go on they will be able to cater even more successfully to their patrons' tastes and needs, and their Victory gardens will be victorious indeed.

At the Toronto W. I. convention last year, the girls from various clubs told of how they had used the produce from their gardens—some had supplied their families' needs; some had sold theirs to neighbors and at markets, and all agreed the work was healthful and interesting.

I agree with the latter, for can anyone find anything more fascinating than to watch things grow? The girls' gardens have been inspected, but their standing will not be known till Achievement Day, which is late this year.

Anyway, I admire their courage, but even if I had their youth, I could not emulate it. I still main-

TO MARKET, TO MARKET

I have always had the greatest admiration for those intrepid souls who take their wares to market.

It seems to me almost heroic to gather all your choicest wares, load them carefully, and then set them out before an indifferent audience, who know nothing of the blood, sweat and tears that have gone into their production and perfection.

My heart would burn to water and my knees would give way if people just gave a supercilious glance in the direction of my produce, and then went on.

I used to watch the long rows of trucks and wagons around the fine

TARGET FOR TODAY

TODAY, Victory is our first and only target.

The things of tomorrow—the new shape of Freedom—the new pattern of Security—the new projects for a better world—these will follow when Victory comes.

The duty of every Canadian is clear. In this struggle, every gun counts, and every dollar that helps to buy a gun counts, too.

Victory depends on how earnestly each one of us carries out the urgent undertakings set forth in this resolution:

1 Resolve... that I will work and save and lend to the limit of my capacity to support the defenders of my freedom on the fighting fronts of the world.

2 Resolve... that I will forego luxuries and comforts now to make sure of future security for myself, my loved ones, and my fellow countrymen.

3 Resolve... that I will subscribe for Victory Bonds when they are offered, and will hold on to them until the war is over.

4 Resolve... that I will buy War Savings Certificates and Stamps regularly, and keep them invested for the duration.

5 Resolve... that my life insurance, which adds each Victory Loan and will help to further the measures for national re-adjustment after the war by providing individual independence, will be kept in force, for my own and the nation's benefit.

Your bonds, your war savings, and your life insurance are three safeguards for the future which should be maintained out of present income, even at the cost of personal sacrifice. Each has its protective value. Each means future delivery of money to you or yours. Each is as safe as the Dominion of Canada itself. Every dollar saved today is a down payment on security and peace of mind.

Pledge Yourself to Keep All Your VICTORY BONDS and WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES and Hold on to Your LIFE INSURANCE

Gathering the Sport Facts

Here's one for the believe it or not department. The scene of this baseball oddity was Jamestown, New York. Buffalo Bisons of the International League and the Jamestown Falcons of the Pony League were scheduled to play an exhibition game at the Falcons' stadium. During the course of the game a black-out was scheduled to take place in the city of Jamestown. The time of the black-out coincided exactly with the beginning of the fifth inning. During the time of the black-out the fans and players sat in silence. It was a pitch dark night.

When it was over the two teams returned to the field and the lights were turned on. Everything was in readiness for the resumption of play, the game must go on but the picture wasn't complete. During the course of the black-out some prankster had sneaked out from his seat in the stands and stolen second base. After a further delay of ten minutes, while the umpires and players hunted for a new base, the game was resumed.

Toronto Maple Leafs have snatched the International League pennant after a drought of 17 years. Now their biggest trouble is snatching the Shaughnessy play-off banner and the Governor's cup. If the Leafs are fortunate enough to go on into the Little World series their most likely opponent will be the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association.

Right now the Brewers are leading their league, but not by as good a margin as Toronto is. However, here are a few comparisons between the two teams. As this is written, Milwaukee as a team is batting .282. Toronto on the other hand is 33 points behind with an average of .249. Milwaukee has three regulars batting over .300, Toronto has only Frank Coleman in the .300 class and he isn't playing regularly.

The Milwaukee team as a unit has hit over 100 home runs. Toronto has only 25. Ted Norbert alone has hit 23 for the Brewers. On the whole, this story sounds as though the Brewers have too much class for the Leafs. But the final payoff is in the pitching department and that's where the Leafs have the big edge. Milwaukee's top pitcher is Bob Bowman, the same man who wasn't good enough for the sixth-place Leafs last year. The Leafs have a distinct edge here. Mickey Heath, the old-time first baseman for the Leafs, is coach of the Brewers. He also is baseball announcer for all their home games.

Burleigh Grimes of the Leafs and Charley Grimm of the Brewers are both managers of the old school and something hot should turn up if the two clubs meet. Both are past masters in the art of strategy. Both are well equipped in the front office. Bill Veck, head of the Brewers, won the Sporting News trophy as the outstanding minor league executive last year. If Peter Campbell of the Leafs doesn't win it this year there really is something rotten in Denmark.

All in all, it looks as though it might turn into a great series. The Leafs should win because, although the Milwaukee outfit look like heavy hitters, most of their records are made in band-box parks. Their own field is one of them. The Leafs, on the other hand, have to do half of their hitting in their own park, which is one of the largest and best laid out plants in organized baseball.

HOW THE FUL-O-PEP PLAN HELPS THE POULTRYMAN DO THE JOB
CUT OUT FOR HIM IN 1943

With the Government calling for increases in baby chick production, size of farm flocks and egg production, the problem of the poultry industry is to meet these requirements and at the same time maintain the basic vigour, reproductivity and longevity of its flocks.

With the addition to Ful-O-Pep Feeds* of Dehydrated Cereal Grass, Nature's richest vitamin combination, and other vitamin-rich sources, we believe a definite contribution has been made to this end. At the same time by following the Ful-O-Pep Save On Feed Plan, a poultryman may save substantially on cost of feeding the new crop of growing pullets.

Inquire today about the New Ful-O-Pep Vitamin-Isoal Poultry Feeds* and ask for full details about the Ful-O-Pep Feed Plan.

TWENTY-THREE THIS WEEK

On Monday evening, Aug. 30, headquarters company formed itself into a stout little band, and proceeded to the farm of Pte. Robinson, C.W.A.C., for a gala corn roast. The corn had been prepared under the expert direction of Mess Sgt. Dudley, and was pronounced excellent. Capt. Williams, quartermaster, passed the marshmallows, and Lieut. Honey took charge of soft drinks. Pte. Doucette, C.W.A.C., was in charge of dancing on the green and contributed several dreamy solos, which were intensely enjoyed by all spectators. Music was capably handled by Cpl. Baker, who led the gathering in song.

The centre's pipe band delighted the audience with a number of contributions which formed the inspiration for the release of inhibitions, as evidenced by numerous displays of gambolling on the green sward. Cpl. Newell cut an especially pleasing figure in a piper's hot. Col. Harkness and Major Young paid the gathering a friendly, informal visit at approximately 2200 hours and pronounced the spirit of festivity, the corn, the pop, the entertainment, the marshmallows and the music quite in harmony with the rules of party procedure as laid down by C.A.B.T.C. section 23.

The following evening, Lieut. Bongard packed up his C.W.A.C. softball team and left with it for Rosedale barracks. The Rosedale C.W.A.C. team, not having attended the corn roast the previous evening, seemed to be in rare form and in four innings amassed a total of six runs. Our girls, however, were not idle and chalked up four runs. Then, the lights went on and according to certain set rules of procedure the game had to be called. Although it wasn't called for, Lieut. Bongard granted the game to the Rosedale team, rather than be forced to trim it shamefully at some later date. In any case, basketball will be coming up right soon, which will give our girls another opportunity to release the pent-up energies of the Rosedale barracks C.W.A.C.

On the same evening, in the centre itself, the lads were entertained by a smart Toronto show, with Miss Both Watson as mistress of ceremonies. The show consisted of Joe Murphy, impersonator extraordinary, who has a six-month-old kid, the spitting image of the old man; June Barrett, lovely blonde songstress; Hazel Retzl, contortionist and roller-skate tapstress; Loren Hill, piano accordionist; Flo McDonald, ever-popular songstress; the Modernettes and Dolly Moncrieff, piano accompanist.

On the evening of the third, Sgt. Major Bowman again gathered his charges together, and hid himself down to Woodrow Park, Toronto, to superintend a soccer game with the East Enders. Both teams were fighting for the cup, but, as before, the game became all tied up. Therefore, it was determined, since Monday, Sept. 6 was Labor Day and a holiday and with the commanding officer's special permission, to play a third game in the centre at 1100 hours. This game resulted in a tie for Sgt. Major Bowman, the team, and No. 23. In commemoration, a picture of the "flicker" has been placed on the wall of the sergeants' mess. However, many who have seen the picture avow it bears little resemblance to our bouncing sergeant-major. It is even darkly hinted in some quarters that the flicker in the picture in question is a feathered bird, characterized by a particularly long beak and a noisy cheep. Others, however, claim it to be one of the best pictures of the flicker they have seen. Our position is that of a strictly neutral reporter.

Pte. Robinson, C.W.A.C., who so generously provided the facilities of her spacious farm for headquarters staff's corn roast, has left the centre for duties elsewhere; as has Sgt. Goudie, C.W.A.C.

It is also a pleasure to report that Lieut. Steve Johnstone has increased his sphere of influence. He now holds sway over Miss Margaret Isabel MacKenzie, whom he married in Toronto, on the twenty-third. Or maybe she holds sway over him!

Several other marriages are to be recorded. Sqr. D. Brazeau married Miss Grace Ferguson in Sturgeon Falls on the fifth of August.

Miss Mary Edith Pearl Campbell became the wife of Pte. N. A. Thompson on the twenty-eighth in Newtonbrook, and on the first of this month, Sgt. J. F. Lees married Miss Mary Margaret Stuart in Toronto.

There's more good news! Cpl. Wysinski, who has been a tower of strength on the softball team, has been welcomed to the sergeants' mess and is wearing his uniform with considerable aplomb. L/Cpls. Gilmour, Youens, and Fisher, formerly of the BOIR, are sporting two stripes.

Happy fathers in the centre are Sgt. Gignac who has a new son, Ronald Arthur, born in Hamilton, Aug. 28; Cpl. Hammond, who is the proud father of a daughter, Marilyn Janet, also born in Hamilton, on Aug. 24; Cpl. Turner who now has a new son, Warren Arthur, born in Campbellford, on Aug. 17; and Cpl. Hamilton, whose new son is named Richard William John and was born in Toronto on July 23.

Congratulations to Lieut. Frank Richardson, who culled a Q1 out of Long Branch for his work on a recent Methods of Instruction Course.

EVELYN ANDREWS IS SEPTEMBER BRIDE

A wedding of interest took place in Aurora yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. C. Osborne, when Evelyn Andrews, daughter of Mrs. W. G. Andrews, Aurora, and the late Mr. Andrews, became the bride of George William Baldwin, eldest son of Mrs. W. J. Baldwin, Aurora, and the late Mr. Baldwin.

Rev. R. F. Hicks officiated. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Ralph H. Andrews, wore a French blue wool crepe dress and her head-dress was a circlet of blue and maroon velvet flowers arranged with blue tulle and corsage of orchids. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. R. C. Osborne, as matron of honor, wearing maroon crepe with maroon velvet headpiece and corsage of Rapture roses. Wyatt C. Baldwin, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. R. C. Osborne, the bride's mother receiving, wearing a black crepe dress with black accessories and corsage of dark red roses, assisted by the groom's mother, wearing moss green crepe dress with matching accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The bride chose as her going away ensemble a two-piece black suit, black cloth coat with black shawl collar and black accessories.

Following their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin will reside on Mosley St., Aurora.

Mr. Baldwin was at one time mayor of Aurora.

PRODUCER IS A FRIEND

The picture, "John Stirling," being shown at Trinity United church, Newmarket, tomorrow night, has particular interest for Rev. R. F. Hicks, of Aurora, for the producer, Rev. John Moorehouse, was a classmate at college as well as coming from Arkona, near Mr. Hicks' home.

ARRANGE CANTEN

In a few weeks time members of the R.C.O.C. and civilian employees of the Aurora Ordnance Depot will have their own dry canteen in the plant. Sandwiches, coffee, soft drinks, etc., will be on sale.

The canteen is being organized by the Depot Recreation club and will fill a need in the plant. Work is now being done on the canteen, located in the plant.

WIN HANDSOME PRIZES

Aurora Bowling club took two rinks to Elora on Monday, winning second and third prizes. Geo. Sisman, Art. Atkinson, Bert. Budd and Jack Luck, the latter two of Newmarket, winners of second place, each received occasional chairs and Wm. Morris, Erwin Watts, Chas. Bilbrough and Chas. Patterson, third-place winners, each a drop-leaf coffee table.

After 40 years of experience in growing trees on the prairies, Norman Ross, former superintendent of the forest nursery station at Indian Head, Sask., gives out that in his opinion grass growing in the shelter-belts has killed more trees than drought itself. He sees the time come to make greater use of longer-lived trees than poplar and Manitoba maple.

A.H.S. Girl Qualifies For Five Varsity Entrance Bursaries

Mary Crichton, Kettleby, who this year ended a brilliant academic record at Aurora high school by writing 11 first-class honor papers in the senior matriculation departmental examinations, has been honored with scholarships by the University of Toronto valued at many hundreds of dollars.

Announcement was made on Saturday by the University of Toronto that the Aurora student had been awarded the Prince of Wales scholarship, the Edward Blake scholarship in two of French, German, Italian and Spanish, and a Reuben Wells Leonard scholarship at University College. The latter scholarship alone is worth $300 in cash, plus free tuition, and has a possible total value of $900.

Miss Crichton won two other scholarships, which went by reversion to others. She received top ranking for the Edward Blake English and French scholarship and the Edward Blake scholarship in French and Latin.

Miss Crichton has never failed to top her classes during her five years at the school and in the long history of the Aurora school no scholarship winner has had a better record or won such high honors.

Mary C. Crichton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crichton, Kettleby. Principal J. H. Knowles said that during her five years at Aurora high school she had never averaged less than 95 percent.

Born in Toronto 18 years ago Monday, she came to Kettleby with her parents during the early years of the depression, and attended Kettleby public school. Victims of the depression, Mr. and Mrs. Crichton traded their city property for a King township farm, and then finding themselves unable to make a go of the farm traded the farm for a blacksmith shop property in Kettleby.

From this shop Mr. Crichton has carried on his trade as a carpenter. Mr. and Mrs. Crichton also have a son, William, 15 years old a week ago Monday, who finished his second year in Aurora high school with an average of 83 percent and is now starting his third year.

When The Era and Express called Mrs. Crichton on Saturday afternoon, Mary and William were working on the Holland marsh, and had not yet heard the good news.

"Mary is hoping to be a language teacher," said Mrs. Crichton. "Languages are her favorite subjects."

Queen's Yorks Start Fall Training, Invite Recruits

Fifty-three officers and men attended the first fall parade of C Coy, 2nd battalion, Queen's York Rangers, at the Aurora armory on Tuesday. Next week it is expected many more will be on parade to renew their training. Drill was held both indoors and out.

Present for the occasion were

Lieut. T. Griffith, newly appointed training officer, and C.S.M. Alfred Headley, Toronto. The parade was under the command of Capt. Earl Bales. New recruits will be welcomed by the North York company, which continues to lose men to active service units.

Served As Airman In Last War, Scientist This Time

One of Canada's outstanding neuro psychiatrists, Col. F. H. Van Nostrand is consultant neuro psychiatrist, office of the director of medical services, Canadian military headquarters, in London.

He was born at Vandorf June 30, 1896, and received his education in Vandorf public school and Aurora and Newmarket high schools and University of Toronto, faculty of medicine.

After a period of post-graduation internship Col. Van Nostrand was given a fellowship in the department of pathological chemistry, University of Toronto, in 1927. Two years later he became neuro psychiatrist for the department of pensions and national health in Ottawa, where he served until the outbreak of the present war.

He trained as a cadet at Newmarket high school. In 1916 he enlisted as a private in the Royal Canadian army medical corps and served in France with the 5th Canadian field ambulance in 1917.

In September, 1918, he was commissioned as a Royal Air Force pilot and remained with the air force as a reserve officer, after the war, until 1928, when he transferred to the non-permanent active militia.

At the outbreak of hostilities he went into a Canadian general hospital and on arriving overseas was promoted to major as second in command of a Canadian field ambulance hospital. But his stay was short-lived, for his qualities as a psychiatrist resulted in a further promotion to lieutenant-colonel in command of a neurological hospital for Canadians.

His present appointment was received in June, 1942, and with the appointment went a further promotion to the rank of colonel.

His wife is at present residing in Vandorf, and Col. Van Nostrand gives Aurora as his home. They have six children, five boys and one girl, ranging in ages from 14 years to three years. The daughter, Shiela, is the baby of the family.

Col. Van Nostrand gives hunting and fishing as his hobbies, with a special interest in reforestation.

Debert, N.S.

Cpl. Howard Leonard, R.C.A.F., Angus, and Mrs. Leonard and Freddie, Aurora, left last week for Vancouver, B.C. Cpl. Leonard is on furlough and Mrs. Leonard will remain on a visit at the west coast.

L-Cpl. W. Brown, a member of No. 3 C.A.C.T.R. soccer team, Camp Borden, which played here last week, is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, and took the opportunity of paying them a brief visit after the game.

Sgt. Douglas Knowles, R.C.A.F., Hagersville, spent the weekend at his home.

Lawrence G. Obee, formerly of Aurora, now of Toronto, was among the graduating class at No. 4 wireless school at Guelph last Friday. The class had an average of 82.4 percent, to set a new high in R.C.A.F. records.

Lawrence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brett Obee, a sister, Mrs. Douglas Knowles, resides in Aurora.

Bernard Lopatriello, Aurora, leaves next week on active service. He has been a member of the 2nd battalion, Queen's York Rangers (reserve) and has been employed at Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Rank and son, Ralph, were visiting in St. Catharines on the holiday weekend.

Miss Anna Leggett is spending this week in Montreal.

UNIVERSITY CALLS TO MANY YOUNG PEOPLE

Graduating students at Aurora high school this year have made various plans for the future.

The boys find it more difficult to make a choice, in view of the fact that military requirements may change the picture. Raymond Cook, second highest student in the school, plans to enter a science course at the University of Toronto. George King expects to attend a science course at Queen's University. Bruce McGuire, H. Matson and Bob Bife are expected to start university courses.

Mary Crichton, top-ranking student who received 11 first-class honor awards, is definitely headed for a seat of higher learning. Mary Bowman enters a physiotherapy course at the University of Toronto and Joan Chalk a general course.

Yvonne Thomson will assist her father in business, while Barbara Walker is entering training in Toronto as a nurse. Barbara Gilbert finds the course she has chosen to follow at university has been filled and expects to wait a year before continuing her studies.

From other years' classes, Harvey Fingold, Roy Lacey, Barton Teasdale, Dudley Wilcox, Elizabeth Wilcox, Marian Thompson, Dorothy Clark, Harold Oliver and others will resume their university courses.

Teaches In Same School Her Mother Once Ruled

Isabel Walkington, daughter of Councillor C. E. Walkington of King township, and 1942 valedictorian at Aurora high school, will be the teacher at S.S. 4, King (Strange), this year. Her mother, prior to her marriage, was teacher at the same school, which now is one of the most modern rural schools in Ontario.

MAJOR C. H. REEVE IS NEW C.O. OF YORKS

Major C. H. Reeve, E.D., Toronto, has been appointed commanding officer of the 2nd (reserve) battalion, Queen's York Rangers (1st American Regiment).

Major Reeve's rank will be that of lieutenant-colonel, with the promotion effective Sept. 1. Major Reeve succeeds Lieut.-Col. John Hyde Bennett.

Lieut. T. Griffith, Toronto, has been named training officer of the 2nd battalion, Queen's York Rangers. Lieut. Griffith was formerly R.S.M. of the 3rd battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, and has returned from overseas.

Capt. William Hunt continues as adjutant.

DEPOT HAS TALENT PLENTY OF COURAGE

Aurora R.C.O.C. soccer team, in its debut before Aurorans, last Thursday, went down to defeat before No. 3 C.A.C.T.R. eleven, Camp Borden, 5-1 in a game which more than satisfied the spectators and indicated the Depot boys have a strong team in the formation stage.

With two players on the team who had never played soccer before and lacking both condition and practice, the maroon-clad Ordnance boys opened in whirlwind fashion and scored a fast goal, from the toe of Alf Watson, which left the armored corps boys astounded.

Depot pressed hard and but for some fine work by Gilbert Heron, Jamaican star of the visitors, would have increased its lead. George Ramsay of the Bordenites tied the score shortly before the whistle, to make it even-Stephen at the half.

After the rest period the visitors put on the pressure and it was soon apparent the local boys were tired out. Sgt. Jennings put No. 3 ahead and when Heron flashed one past Dobson, following a penalty shot, the game was never in doubt. Led by Farley and Watson, the locals tried hard.

In the dying moments of the game, the black beret boys ran in two fast goals. "Jeff" Gleave handled the game, with Bob Reise, and Tpr. Don Watson of Aurora as linesmen.

Following the game the visitors were entertained at supper and then at the R.C.O.C. recreation centre in the old town hall. Both teams were anxious to lock horns again, and a series is being arranged which should be a dandy.

Staff-Sgt. Cotton was pleased with the improvement in his team, and with more practice Depot will be hard to beat. Herb. Holman, Wilf. White, Alf. Watson, and Sunoski were stand-outs for Depot.

No. 3: Watson, Heron, Sgt. Todd, Sgt. Jennings, Woods, Cpl. Robinson, Cpl. Ramsay, Wickert, L-Cpl. Brown, Pryor, Bergson, Lynn.

Aurora: Dobson, Dunstall, Sunoski, Holman, Farley, Mason, White, Watson, Burke, Heard, Heenan, Conboy, Dunbar, Starkey.

COOK HOPES TO GET ANOTHER GOOD WELL

The new Gurnet St. well water is A1, Town Clerk A. C. A. Willis stated at an Aurora town council meeting on Tuesday evening.

W. Huffman is drilling a second well at the south limits of the town and is down 255 feet, Councillor A. A. Cook, chairman of the water committee, stated. "One hundred feet of it has been clay, but he is through it now and the going is easier," said Mr. Cook. "I am still in hopes that we will get a good well as the other one."

KILLED IN ACTION

Flt.-Lieut. John B. Brownlee, Nashville, member of a well-known York county family, has been killed in action. The deceased, who was born in Woodbridge, was 38 and previous to enlisting in 1941 was a member of the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Barrie.

BAND GOES TO BOLTON

Clock At Midnight Adjourns Council Debating Stipends

Mayor Frank Underhill and three members of Aurora town council, Councillors A. N. Fisher, Dr. G. A. C. Guntion and Fred Rowland, favor payment of council members for their services.

Three members, Reeve C. A. Malloy, and Councillors A. A. Cook and Ross Linton, are opposed to payment of council members.

Deputy-Reeve C. E. Sparks says that he does not want to be paid himself, but that in view of the fact that he and Reeve Malloy are paid for their services as members of York county council he would not stand in the way of members of the town council being paid.

In a pre-midnight discussion of the question at a council meeting Tuesday evening, Mr. Sparks voted with the pro-pay members once but when the clock struck midnight he refused to vote with them to prevent adjournment of the council before the final vote was taken.

Mr. Fisher raised the question. He said that a report of the by-laws committee in February recommending payment of councillors had never been dealt with.

"I think that some of the members of the council are afraid of the issue," said Dr. Guntion.

Reeve Malloy and Councillor Linton objected. "It doesn't matter to me whether I am paid but I don't think that councillors should serve without remuneration," said Dr. Guntion. "I'll likely not be here another year," said Mayor Underhill. "If I am here, I'll get it. If somebody else is here I will be glad to see him get it."

"It is a matter of principle," said Mr. Fisher.

"To me it is ridiculous in a small town," said Councillor A. A. Cook. "There are other people, in the Red Cross and other organizations, who should be remunerated too. They are giving as much time as we are. If the public is in favor of it, why not put it to the public in December?"

Dr. Guntion and Mr. Malloy moved that the question be dealt with "at this meeting." With Messrs. Fisher, Guntion, Malloy and Rowland voting for the motion, the mayor declared it carried.

Dr. Guntion and Mr. Fisher then made a motion in favor of payment of the mayor and councillors.

"If we pass it, for payment beginning Jan. 1 next year, a new council could recind it if it wished and it elected on that ticket," said Mayor Underhill.

"Why should we be paid?" asked Mr. Linton. "We don't lose any time."

"I can earn $25 of any evening by not being here," said Dr. Guntion.

"You wouldn't get any good men offering to serve on the council," said Mr. Cook.

"We don't meet in the day time," said Mr. Linton. "My wife gives whole afternoons to the Red Cross and thinks nothing of it."

"This isn't a charitable organization," said Dr. Guntion. "It is a community organization," said Mr. Cook.

"The town is a business organization and pays its way," Dr. Guntion said.

"Why do other towns do it?" asked Mr. Rowland.

"It is the trend," said Mr. Cook. "Everybody has his hand out."

"Salaried men give up their leisure to come to these meetings," said Mayor Underhill. "Business and professional men give their business time."

Messrs. Malloy and Cook moved an amendment that the question be referred to the public at the "next election." The mayor ruled that it was not properly worded to be considered an amendment.

All members of the council except Messrs. Guntion and Rowland voted to permit Mr. Malloy to re-word his amendment.

Dr. Guntion and Mr. Rowland then moved an amendment to the amendment requiring the council to deal with the issue itself.

This was carried with Messrs. Guntion, Rowland, Fisher and Sparks voting for it.

Before the mayor could put the motion which would have resulted in a by-law being brought before the next council meeting, the clock struck midnight. Dr. Guntion and Mr. Rowland moved that the council not adjourn, but only Mr. Fisher voted with them, and the meeting broke up.

Three Grades Stay Out Till 21st, Others 14th

Aurora high school will open for another term next Tuesday and, despite war-time conditions, graduations, and enlistments, Principal J. H. Knowles, who starts his 20th year, believes the attendance will be as large as last year.

Grades nine and ten

DOWN THE CENTRE

September fixings on the sports front find football closing out fast and hockey beginning to come into some speculation along with rugby. "Joint" McComb and his Aurora Ordnance pals didn't move so far away after all. They are now posted to No. 23 B.T.C. at Newmarket and following basic training are likely to head back to the Aurora Depot and be available for hockey. Right now, if the Redmen could hold all their players, they would be a cinch to take honors, with "Goose" Hewson, "Chirp" Breckley, "Bunny" Glover and other well known puck-chasers on hand. That is not likely to be the case, however, with many of the old guard as well as newcomers likely to move out. No. 23 can be depended upon, however, to have a good team.

Professional Hockey this winter looks as if it will largely be composed of youths of non-military age, category men, and oldtimers. Chief additions to the armed forces have been Johnny Mowers, ace goalie of the Detroit Redwings, to the R.C.A.F. and Syl Apps of the Toronto Maple Leafs to the army.

Right now it can be taken as a sure thing that Ronnie Rowe, former Markham junior star, will be a fixture with the Toronto team. Rowe is back in Toronto from Galt, where he was scheduled to play junior hockey and last week scored a goal for Toronto East End soccer team in their second historic cup clash with Newmarket camp. Ross Johnstone, who played for Etobicoke juniors two years ago against Aurora and last season with Marlboros, is another lad who is definitely a Leaf starter. Rowe is category, and Johnstone still below military age. Sutherland, who guarded the nets for Owen Sound Orphans in the O.H.A. semi-finals against Aurora Ordnance, is another likely juvenile. The trio are all fine pro prospects.

Neil Colville, of the famous New York Rangers front line trio, who was with Ottawa Commandos last winter, contrary to general report is not in western Canada but as late as last week was at Camp Borden, where, according to our scouts, he pitched hardball against armored corps. Colville won too, altho' the batters say he has nothing much but a straight fast ball.

There are some capable ice artists in Borden right now. Alan Kuntz of New York Rangers is an officer at No. 1 C.A.C.T.R. Lin Bend, another Ranger chetel, who guarded the nets for Portage La Prairie juniors two years ago, is a "Louie" at No. 2 C.A.C.T.R., where Reggie Westbrooke of Collingwood and Army Daggers fame is also a corporal. Gordy Bruce of Boston Bruins is at Borden with army service corps, to mention but a few of the bigger names in the winter sports whirl, who are training at Camp Borden.

Jess Turton a few years ago was tending goal for that home-brew Schomberg hockey team who cut quite a figure in rural competition. Now Jess is a corporal with the service corps in the thick of things in Sicily.

Ronnie Foster, another member of the same team, is now a pilot officer with the R.C.A.F. and only a few weeks ago arrived safely in England. Speaking of Schomberg, reminds us of the fact that Ted Sutton, who was a pretty nifty soccer, hardball and softball player at Aurora high and for his native village, has been promoted to the rank of captain with the artillery and is on staff at Pelawawa camp. Bill Covert of Bradford, a member of the championship Bradford Argos team, is a regimental policeman now and posted on the west coast at New Westminster at last reports.

Norman Legge, who last winter was a member of Roy Middlebrook's Aces in the Aurora town league, where he looked very promising, was among the graduating class in bombing and gunnery at Mont Joli, P.Q., last week, while miles away on the same day at Macdonald in Manitoba. Ross Waddell, who was in our opinion the best junior goalie ever to play in the district, also was an air force graduate. Waddell as late as last winter was still starring in the nets for Oshawa Generals, who drafted him from Aurora Juniors.

Arnold Mollenhauer, who over 25 years ago was playing stand-out hockey for Newmarket, where he resided and then went to Toronto to play for the famous Aurora Leo junior club, received considerable publicity last week in the Toronto press for his success as an insurance salesman, as he qualified for the sixth year in the quarter million club of a well-known insurance company. Mollenhauer was a smooth lacrosse player too and played on that good Aurora team ousted by the fickle finger of fate from the O.A.L.A. championship by Toronto Beaches "away back when." Remember that team coached by Bill Clapper which had among its personnel, "Kid" Harman, Dicky Harman, Bob McLeod, Bill Epworth, Gene Underhill, "Dooley" Butler, "Ras" Harman, George Hart, Alf Brodie, George Flicker, "Spot" Leppard, Don Clapper, John Billings, etc?

Richmond Hill Softballers won the North York softball title by taking Agincourt with comparative ease 9-3 in the final game and apparently are doomed to see no more action. Charlie Ryan and his men did a grand job and, despite the war, fielded a team nearly as strong as the best in the past. With commendable spirit the team put up a $50 Victory bond for a draw and raised well over $200. The proceeds will be used to purchase windbreakers for the new champs and also to help defray medical expenses incurred by outfielder John Mabey, who broke his arm playing hardball with the Hill kids this year.

One or two of the midget hardballers from the Hill attended the baseball clinic held by Burley Grimes and the Toronto club and made a fine showing considering their age.

Tennis came back to life at the Hill in recent weeks with the re-organization of the club by a group of youngsters and while only a short season remains the effort will put the courts in shape and leave a good start available for next season. Betty Smith is president, and Harry Hill is secretary of the club.

Jim McComb (no relation to "Joint"), for the past couple of years one of the best athletes at Pickering College, has practically clinched a place in senior football this season with Toronto Balmy Beach.

"Scotty" Mair, who we don't think has played rugby since high school days at Newmarket, has likewise won himself a berth on the senior navy team this year. Contrary to what the public may think, the navy boys practise football in their own time, early in the morning and late afternoon and evening.

Ordnance soccer team, while losing to No. 3 armored corps this week, pleased the Aurora supporters with an improved effort, and the maroon-clad 11, led by Staff Cotton, will have a real club yet. They were to clash with Newmarket camp this week, an experience which should do the team a lot of good. Games with Ordnance of Borden, and No. 3 are still to be played.

Gilbert Heron, lanky Jamaican, gave Aurora fans last week a superlative display of soccer smoothness, even if he made it a bit too much of a one-man show. Heron is just about the best all-round athlete we have ever seen. For instance, he won the 220-yard sprint in the M.D. 2 army championships, and has been clocked at 9.9 in the century as well as excelling at every branch of track and field, with special emphasis on the running broad jump.

He is a former 145-lb. golden glove champion of Michigan state, played soccer for the famous Detroit Venetian club, and is a wonder at cricket and basketball. All season he has been red hot at shortstop for our softball club, even tho' he wasn't in that spot against the teams in our out-of-camp matches and, to cap it all, he was quarterback for Cleveland professional rugby club two years ago. We don't think he can skate but, given a chance, with his natural ability he would probably be better than average.

Newmarket Camp softballers bowed out of the Davisville playoffs last week and, except for a few army games which may or may not be played, are about through for the season. Main failure was the inability of the camp's heavy artillery to come through with needed hits. Larman pitched excellent ball and, even Sgt. "Cease" Brown, who was in hospital, couldn't have done any better. The team record for the season at Davisville was only a mere .400 percent, but in exhibition games they did much better.

Kenny Doyle, former Richmond Hill hurler, bested Newmarket in one of the games for Ostranders and he is in a class with Teddy Bennett so far as age and ability go. Over the season, "Red" O'Neill and "Bucky" Buchowsky were probably the most outstanding players for Newmarket.

One for the book took place in recent weeks. In their trip to Borden last week one of the Aurora Ordnance soccer team became so enthused that his denture popped out on the playing field and wasn't missed until after the game. A search failed to find it and he went home as toothless as the day he was born. Further search parties failed to find the teeth at No. 3 and two soccer matches, a softball game, and numerous P.T. periods were held on the field all week.

Then while running down the field to catch a rugby punt one of the troopers tripped. With horror he grabbed his mouth, and quickly smiled, for staring him in the eye large as life were the missing false teeth, good as ever and unharmed by hundreds of feet. They were restored to their owner this week, much to his delight.

Collingwood is likely to have no hockey this winter, despite the fact that the town will have plenty of good players on hand. When we were there recently we learned that the arena was likely to be taken over for war industry purposes.

Sept. 18 marks the 25th anniversary of the Richmond Hill bowling club opening and to mark the event a mixed tournament is being held. The club has some of North York's finest bowlers on its roster and takes second place to none as a recreation centre. In 25 years the club has won almost every form of championship available in Ontario bowling circles.

It costs only 25 cents (if paid in a week) to tell thousands of people about that article you do not need.

SNOWBALL FUNERAL OF GEORGE DOUGLAS CAIRNS HELD

NOW YOU CAN ENJOY MORE COFFEE...

Be Sure It's Maxwell House

ATTENTION—all who love coffee! Now you can use two of your ration coupons every three weeks instead of every four weeks as formerly.

That means your ration is increased by one-third. And you'll get the utmost enjoyment out of every cup of coffee if you insist on Maxwell House. This famous blend just can't be beat for sheer downright goodness and here's why:

1. Maxwell House is blended from the very finest coffees available—each chosen for its own special quality of flavor, body or fragrance.

2. This fine blend is roasted uniformly by a special process that captures all its fragrant, smooth, coffee goodness.

For wartime reasons Maxwell House is now packed in bags—in an All Purpose Grind and at a lower cost to you. This new grind is suitable for all ways of making coffee—coffee-pot, percolator or glass coffee-maker. If using a glass coffee-maker you may want to brew the coffee a little longer.

A dainty set luncheon was enjoyed by the ladies.

RAVENSHOE

Rev. Gordon Lapp gave a splendid sermon last Sunday afternoon.
Quite a number were out but some were away for the last summer holiday weekend.

Sept. 1 was really hot, with heat almost at July levels. There was a heavy thunder storm at night.

A welcome rain came on Sunday night. The land was getting hard and plowing for wheat sowing will be much easier.

Labor Day was warm but cloudy.
A good many of the farmers are through harvesting. The crops were not heavy, but some yields were better than last year.

Buckwheat looks to be a good crop.

A Sunday-school meeting was held at Mrs. Stanley Armstrong's home last Wednesday evening to plan the fall and winter work.

Mrs. Wm. Crowder and Miss Gladys Nixon of Ravenshoe, and Miss Mary Henderson of Water-down, Ont., was a weekend guest of Miss Eva Gilroy.

Mrs. Lella Rolph, Newmarket, visited her mother, Mrs. Nellie Morton, over the weekend.

About 75 people took supper in the United church school room when the Women's Association served on Thursday last. A brief but highly enjoyable program followed. Mrs. Thos. Cole of Indianola Beach sang and Douglas Monahan, also of Indianola, recited.

after the open sessions held on summer Sundays.

STILL TRAINING AND WAITING, BOYS WRITE

"I was down to my last packet of smokes the other day and no more in sight, when yours arrived," writes Rfn. Earl Cole to the Newmarket Veterans Soldiers' Comforts fund. "I want to thank you sincerely for all you have done for me since coming overseas. I can't put what I mean into words but I know you will understand."

"Yourselves and the firemen are doing a swell job of helping us fellows, also the ladies' club of Newmarket. Speaking from my own experience here, I get more parcels and cigarettes than any other fellow in this company."

"You probably know all about the Sicily affair. Probably more than I do. So far, Canadians had a reputation of toughness and raising —here in England. Well, by all reports, the boys in Sicily are raising plenty of it still. And the rest of us just sit here and wish we were with them! But our turn will come one of these days."

"Well, friends, I better close for now, as I have several letters to write to catch up with my mail.
Thanks again and best regards
for the future."

"It was my good fortune recently to receive a parcel of cigarettes from your grand association and I do so appreciate their timely arrival, because we are going on a scheme tomorrow or the next day."
Tpr. K. G. Munro writes the Veterans.

"I'm usually lucky enough to receive a parcel of cigarettes when I'm contemplating borrowing some.
Thanking you and all others responsible for the grand gifts."

"Many thanks for the smokes," Spr. J. T. Galbraith writes the Veterans. "They took a long time to find me, as my address is changed.
I am with another company now.
Have received the Newmarket Era and Express occasionally and read about all the good work being done for those of the old home town on active service. Keep up the good work, we sure appreciate it."

"Am fine and waiting for the big show to start. Now the side-show in Sicily is going so well, it shouldn't be so long to wait. I wrote the secretary of the fire brigade and told them of my new address.
Again, many thanks and I hope you are all enjoying the best of health after the epidemic of last spring."

"Cigarettes arrived yesterday and were very much appreciated as usual," writes Pte. Reg. M. Bell.
"Charlie Gordon received his a couple of days ago. We are working together here for a time and it is good to meet some old Newmarket boys. We both enjoy reading the paper from town and so keep up to date with events happening at home. Thanks again for all you are doing for the boys over here and hope to be back home before too long."

"I have just returned from leave to find your welcome gift awaiting me here," says Spr. H. Moss in a card to the Veterans. "I have just had 14 days and a 48 hours additional pass tacked on—18 days in all, as I had been kept quite busy the last few months and missed my regular leave when it was due—hence the long leave."

"Am now back at work here again. Don't suppose we in this unit will leave England, as we are most of us in the 'sere and yellow', as you might say, and can only follow the doings of our boys in Sicily as eagerly as you back there will be doing."

"Again a million thanks for the cartons of cigarettes I received the other day," writes Sgmn. F. J. Luston.

Cards acknowledging cigarettes have been received from Pte. H.
Sutton, Pte. J. E. Woods, Lieut. G.
R. Foster, Pte. Leonard Coupland,
